AABIP IP Fellow Reading List

A selected, comprehensive literature bank for interventional pulmonary fellows to review during fellowship.

Designed to support all clinical professionals in IP.

The list is organized by topic and provides a direct article link, as well as a succinct summary.

An excellent complement to IP fellows' clinical and other institution-based curricula.

AVAILABLE
NOW

Essential Knowledge

in Interventional Pulmonology Series

This focused educational series provides clinicians with concise, up-to-date reviews of important topics in IP.

The program is a three-year alternating rotation covering pleural disease, airway-based therapeutics, and diagnostic bronchoscopy.

Topics are presented at the annual AABIP conference and then more comprehensively reviewed in a corresponding article published in the Journal of Bronchology and Interventional Pulmonology.

AABIP PROCEDURE VIDEO EDUCATIONAL SERIES

Expert-led procedural videos

A video library demonstrating the step-by-step “how to” of advanced bronchoscopic and pleural procedures.

Sections include videos on necessary equipment, procedural and sampling techniques, and other relevant content.

This is an excellent supplement to procedural training that provides both visual references and embedded narrative explanations for the learner that otherwise cannot be easily obtained outside the real-world setting.

AABIP Podcast Series

LISTEN

Official AABIP Podcast Series

The AABIP Podcasts deliver expert insights into the evolving field of interventional pulmonology.

Featuring leading specialists, each episode unpacks cutting-edge techniques, clinical debates, and emerging research, offering listeners a dynamic way to stay ahead in the field.

Whether tackling high-risk procedures or exploring the latest advancements, this podcast is the go-to resource for those interested in bronchoscopy and pleural disease management.

AABIP WEBINAR LIBRARY

A comprehensive library of AABIP webinars dating back to 2016.

The monthly AABIP webinar series hosts experts in bronchoscopy, interventional pulmonology, and associated fields, engaging common topics as well those more controversial, evolving, and innovative.

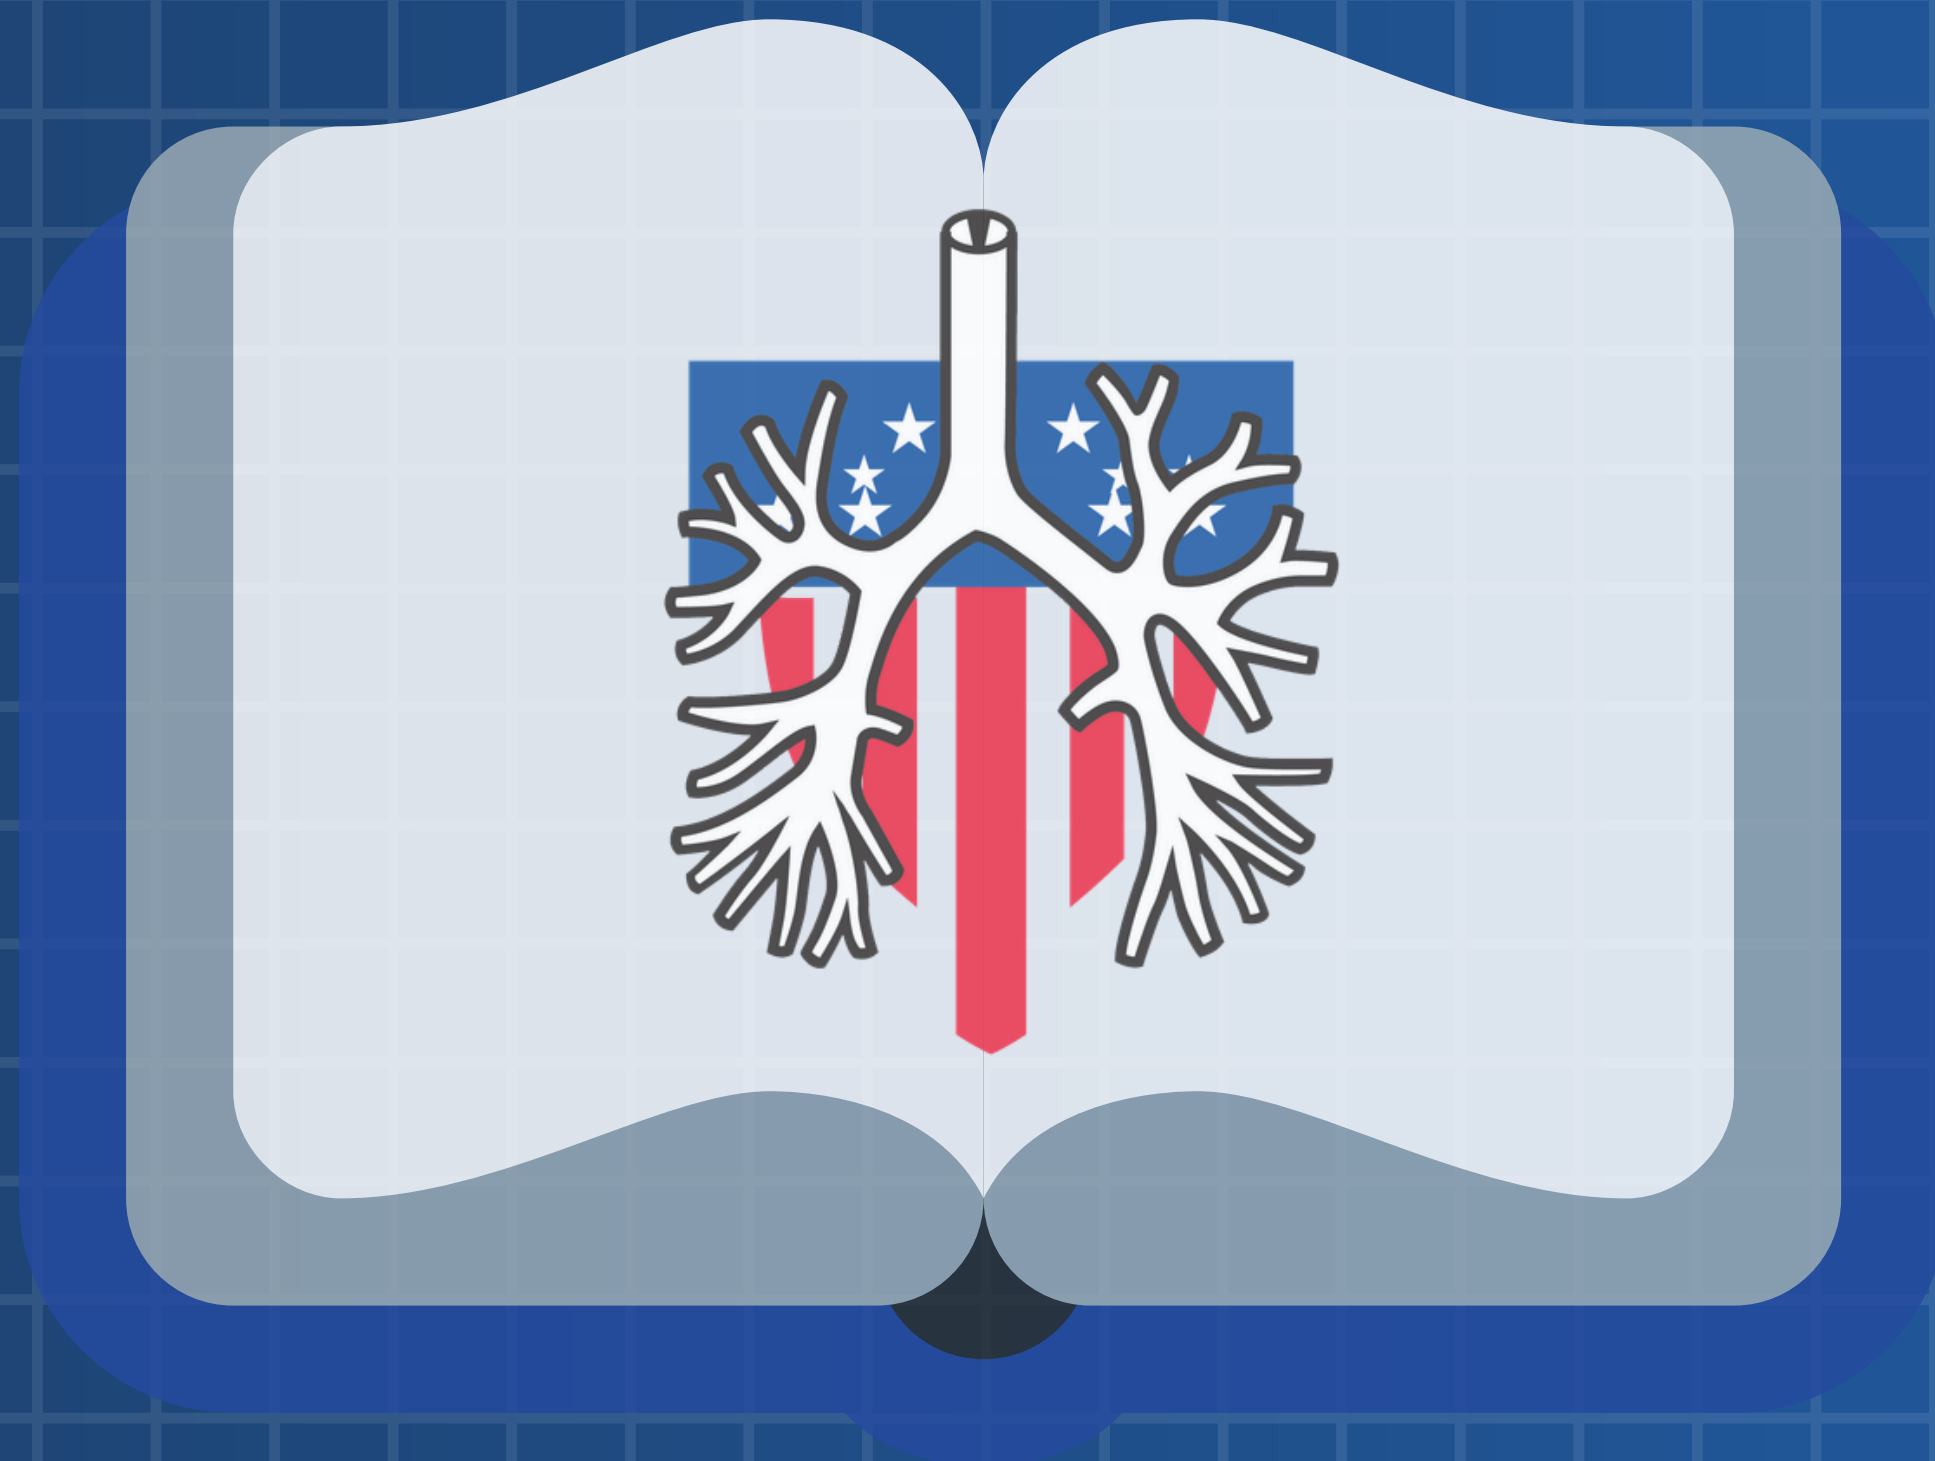

The library is catalogued by topical focus and provides content that might not be readily available in a fellows' core curriculum.
